Kindergarten cooks up Christmas

Mrs. Wood's KB class started off Wednesday's concert with a rollicking "Christmas Rhumba," which told about all the baking, decorating, singing and dancing that it takes to make up a perfect Christmas.

Compassion is EPE concert's message

By VICKI BROOKER

Elk Point Elementary School welcomed the Christmas season with a pair of concerts last week, with the Wednesday concert, starring the A classes of each grade and the KB ECS class, throwing a spotlight on the value of compassion.

The afternoon started off with a welcome by MCs Corey Wozniak and Madison McGee and "O Canada" led by Rachael Walton and Cassandra Moores. School board representative Darrell Youngmans and EPE principal Lorne Young each gave a brief welcome address.

Mrs. Wood's KB class opened the program with a lively "Christmas Rhumba" and then recited "A Christmas Alphabet," before the curtain opened on the main attraction.

Entitled "The Legend of the Christmas King," the play told the story of Artaban, an astronomer with allergies who is determined to travel however long and hard a trail it may be, to meet the Messiah.

We first meet Artaban in a crowded village street, resounding with a chorus of "Village of the Sun," where the keeper of a traveling roadside emporium recognizes him instantly - by his sneezes. We also meet Artaban's newfound traveling companion, a third-class apprentice angel, who has been sent to help him on his journey.

Artaban has heard that three Oriental kings are also on their way to see the Messiah, and he and the angel agree that teaming up with them would be a good idea.

The three kings soon appear, in the wake of a huge caravan of camels and their riders, ladies in filmy veils and four bearers carrying a curtained litter, all from Miss Ockerman's and Mrs. Lindquist's Grade 3A class, assisted in learning. The kings turn down Artaban, when he asks to accompany them, because he does not have an impressive gift to take to the Messiah.

Realizing his oversight, Artaban calls upon the friendly neighbourhood peddler and trades all his earthly belongings for gifts worthy of the newborn King.

After extensive consultation of their scrolls and sextants, a group of learned scientists (Ms Capjack's 5A) declare in song that Artaban "knows his stuff."

Lighting winners

By VICKI BROOKER

Review Staff

The Elk Point Chamber of Commerce's 2007 crew of judges, three of them taking part for the first time, found they had a very challenging job last Wednesday night, as they toured every street in the community looking for the most beautiful lighting displays.

However, the first and second prize winners live just across the community's smallest cul-de-sac from one another.

New Ravine Drive resident Willie Lesyk, who won an award a few years ago in the mobile home division, was the big $300 winner, with an extensive and colourful display wrapping around both sides of his property.

Last year's winner David Buksa moved down to second place with his crisp colour scheme, while first-time entrant Elvis Sibal, whose home is just east of Elk Point Health Centre, placed third.

A number of homes received honourable mentions, including multi-year winners Nemesio Tuliao, Jack and Leona Bretzer and Patsy Zarowny.

The County of St. Paul and the Town of Elk Point pooled their resources recently to fund two major purchases for community volunteer groups. Above, Reeve Robert Bouchard and Mayor Parrish Tung are backed by their councils as they present Elk Point Elks Lodge representative Dwayne Yaremkevich with $15,000 from each council for the new Elks van, which will be used to transport all age groups in the community. The presentation was made at last week's joint meeting of the two councils in Elk Point.

As Artaban and the angel journey along, they meet an impoverished farmer, and Artaban is so taken aback by the poor fellow's plight that he gives him one of the jewels meant for the King. The angel tells him he has done the right thing, quoting, "As you have done to the homeless, you have done also to the Lord."

A choir of ragged urchins (Miss Grabas' 4A) sang that they felt blessed by Artaban's actions.

Shepherds and their sheep (also 5A) were visited by first a magnificent angel with glad tidings and then by a host of angels and stars (Mrs. Bury's 1A) who sang, "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing!" "Angels We Have Heard on High," and "O Come All Ye Faithful," on what proves to be anything but a silent night.

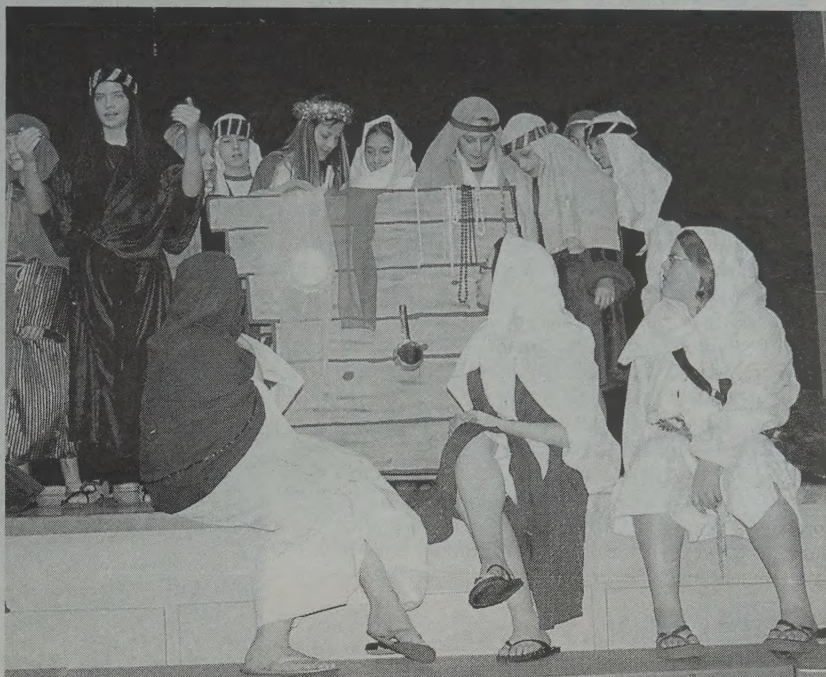

The tired but determined travelers finally reach Bethlehem, and when they come to the inn, they find they are too late: the Baby Jesus and his family have already checked out. As they stand there dejected, a tired, ill, woman approaches them, and Artaban parts with the other jewel, to buy her the best care in town. Again, the urchins come to praise him for his aid to the less fortunate.

Artaban has missed the birth, he has given away his gifts, and again, the angel tells him he has done exactly the right thing.

The trader comes to tell them about visiting the newborn Messiah, and small choristers from Mrs. Jenner's 2A class trooped in to sing, "Love Comes Down."

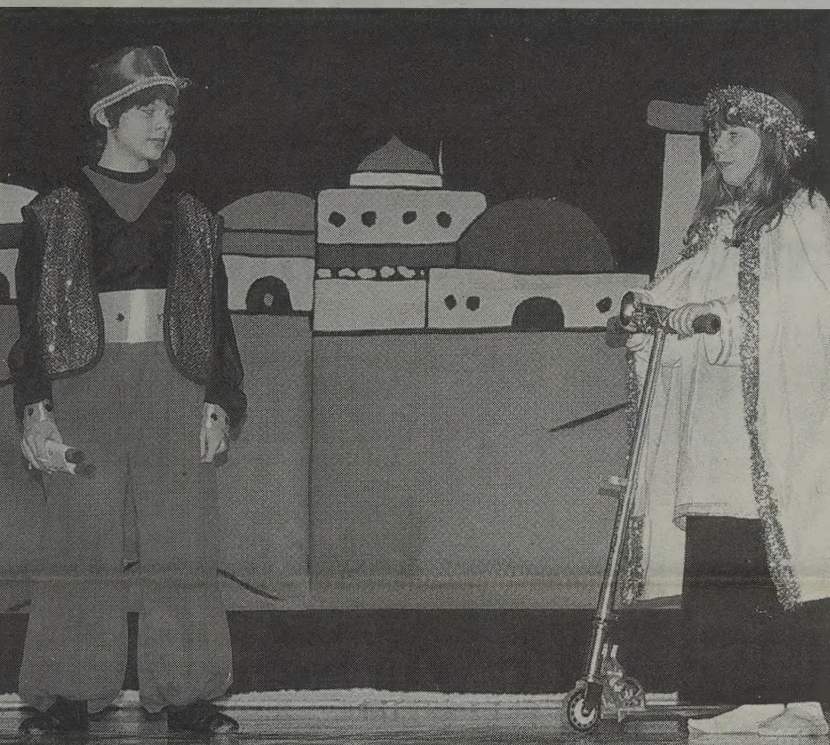

The villagers (Mrs. Roche's 6A) and the rest of the classes flocked on stage for another chorus of "Village of the Sun," and were also joined by the KB students for the traditional ending: "We Wish You A Merry Christmas."

The busy streets become even busier when the wonderful Roadside Emporium rumbles into town.

EDITORIAL

The best Christmas possible

"Have a Merry Christmas," is an almost automatic greeting at this time of year. But for some people, being merry is just not going to happen this year.

Many families have lost one or more loved ones this year, and the first Christmas without that familiar face is a bittersweet occasion. Every family, every individual will deal with this in their own way, but for each of them, Christmas won't be the same.

Not all losses have been through death, some are through divorce, separation, or even just moving to a new community. The separation from family is never felt more acutely than at the holidays.

Impending loss, as in the case of serious illness, can also make the season a difficult one.

Being merry is not mandatory. It may be something that takes a while to work back up to. In the meantime, to those who are hurting this Christmas, we wish you strength to weather the season, warm memories to sustain you and much better things to come in 2008.

Way Back When...

Concerts, cantata and NLLS

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE ELK POINT REVIEW AND LAKELAND REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF DECEMBER 25 IN...

1987

A standing-room-only crowd enjoyed almost three hours of entertainment at the annual Elk Point Elementary School concert, which featured a stressed-out Santa hiding out in Hawaii, a visit from the friendly alien ALF, a North Pole detour to the telephone hotline between Washington and Moscow, and Christmas Texas-style. Santa led the singing out at Ferguson Flats, while rompin', stompin' entertainers from Lac Bellevue were the life of the party at Heritage Lodge.

1992

Elk Point Chamber of Commerce withdrew their brief to the Northern Alberta Development Council regarding a local doctor denied hospital privileges, after receiving a letter from the Hospital Board, who had presented the NADC with a brief asking for aid with doctor recruitment. Elk Point's new town council had the opportunity to meet Northern Lights Library System director Heather West and board member Doreen Bean, who told them the advantages of system membership.

1997

The Town of Elk Point and County of St. Paul were joining forces with the Business Attraction Information System, a listing which would be available worldwide via the Internet. Elk Point United, Ukrainian Catholic and Roman Catholic churches combined talents in a glorious Christmas Cantata featuring song and scripture.

2002

From cows to camels to rowdy reindeer, Elk Point Elementary School's pair of Christmas concerts drew huge applause from capacity crowds. The members of Elk Point Chamber of Commerce congratulated themselves on an extremely successful Christmas Extravaganza that left them in the black financially.

The Elk Point Review publishes a variety of opinions as a contribution to debate on matters of public concern. Unsigned editorials express the view of this newspaper's editorial board which includes the Publisher and the Editor. Signed pieces express the view of the individual writer.

GUEST COLUMN

Remembering Bethlehem

To each and every one, a very, very Merry Christmas.

Speaking of Christmas and remembering where it all took place, did you know that there is a Bethlehem, New Brunswick? Apparently every year at Christmastime, an old sawmill and a neighbouring restaurant near New Brunswick's Hopewell Rocks become the site of Bethlehem in Albert County. Although relatively new as traditions go, their re-enactment of the story of Bethlehem is becoming more popular every year. Everything is done on a voluntary basis and the event is free of charge, although donations to support local churches are gratefully accepted.

As befits the story of Jesus' birth, the event takes place in a humble setting with simple costumes. The simplicity makes the experience even more moving. A long row of lighted trees point the way to the Nativity scene, to which you travel on a hose-drawn wagon while listening to a young girl read the story of Mary and Joseph. Soon, the wagon stops at a lighted hut.

"There is no room at the inn," a costumed man tells the people. "You must go further along the road to the stable."

The stable is set in the old sawmill, which also houses the marketplace, and resounds with Christmas carols. Costumed people sing, offer their wares, knead bread and weave baskets. Visitors are invited to register with the census taker and tax collector. Ducks, clucking hens and rabbits roam freely among the visitors. From there, everyone moves to a peaceful place, where angels sing softly, and, in beautiful repose under a small overhang, sits Mary with the baby Jesus. Joseph slumbers nearby, watched over by a docile donkey and soothed by the angels' voices. In another room, the visitors can come across sheep, goats, cattle and llamas.

As the visitors step outside, they see young shepherd boys with tall curved staffs tending a fire under the stars in the cool December air. It is then time to mount the wagon and return to the starting point, the restaurant. The

deanna EASTHOPE
from the FCSS desk

door opens to a cozy interior where three musicians fill the air with the sounds of Christmas. Waitresses, adorned with halos, serve sweets, hot chocolate and coffee. The place is alive with friends, relatives, and increasingly, visitors from the city who take the time to enjoy Bethlehem in Albert County, New Brunswick.

This story is about what is taking place in Bethlehem, New Brunswick really sets into vision the real story of Christmas. The Christmas carol, "O Little Town of Bethlehem," when sung also helps with the vision.

May your Christmas be one where you are also able to share the joy of this vision and may Christ be a part of your Christmas.

"O little town of Bethlehem,
How still we see thee lie;
Above thy deep and dreamless sleep
The silent stars go by;
Yet in thy dark streets shineth
The ever-lasting Light,
The hopes and fears of all the years
Are met in thee tonight.
For Christ is born of Mary,
And gathered all above,
While mortals sleep, the angels keep
Their watch of wond'ring love,
And praises sing to God the King,
And peace to men on earth.
How silently, how silently,
The wondrous gift is giv'n!
So God imparts to human hearts
The blessings of His heav'n.
No ear may hear His coming,
But in this world of sin,
Where meek souls will receive Him still,
The dear Christ enters in."

- Micah 5:2 and Luke 2: 4-16

IN MEMORIAM

STAFFORD, Pete

Aug. 23, 1948-Dec. 25, 2006

They say memories are golden,
well maybe that is true,
We never wanted memories, we
only wanted you.
A million times we needed you, a million times we cried.
If love alone could have saved
you, you never would have died.
In life we loved you dearly, in death we love you still,
In our hearts you hold a place no
one else could ever fill.
If love could build a stairway and
heartache build a lane.
We'd walk the path to heaven and
bring you back again.
Our family chain is broken, and
nothing seems the same.
But as God calls us one by one, the chain will link again.

It broke our hearts to lose you
But you did not go alone,
For part of us went with you,
The day God called you home.
Although your smile is gone
forever
And your hand we cannot
touch,
We will never lose the memory
Of the one we love so much.
We hold you close within our hearts
And there you will remain,
To be with us throughout our
